

Georgina Jackson

'Watch What Happens'

The Sunday Times

'If you can't get a ticket for Diana Krall's Albert Hall show this week, Georgina Jackson makes a winning substitute.

A smoky voiced singer and trumpeter who has made impressive appearances with the Ronnie Scott's Jazz Orchestra, she covers all the bases on this big-band, orchestral and small band set.

Who would have thought that the 1970's pop anthem Love Will Keep Us Together could sound quite so majestic?

As a vocalist, Jackson is equally at home with standards from More to Lover and Michel Legrand's sultry title track.

Pete Long – the wisecracking Ronnie's band leader – helps to keep order'
